ACCREDITATION COMMITTEE DECISION

NOTICE OF LAW SCHOOL'S DEMONSTRATING COMPLIANCE WITH STANDARD 501(b)

North Carolina Central University School of Law

June 2018

At its June 28-29, 2018 meeting, the Accreditation Committee of the Section of Legal Education and Admissions to the Bar (the "Committee") considered the status of the North Carolina Central University School of Law (the "Law School") regarding its non-compliance with Standard 501(b) and Interpretation 501-1.

Following consideration of the record in the matter and the Law School's appearance at its June 2018 meeting, the Committee concluded that the concrete steps taken by the Law School with respect to its admissions policy and practices demonstrated the Law School's compliance with Standard 501(b) and Interpretation 501-1. North Carolina Central University School of Law remains an approved law school.
